

Montreal Forum Evacuation Plan - Key Points

- The evacuation of the Dawson premises within the Montreal Forum is supported by Montreal Forum emergency management staff, who will provide directives and information as required.
- Teachers holding classes at the Montreal Forum are to act as monitor and searchers, and must do as follows:
 - When the fire alarm sounds, stop what you are doing and immediately direct students to the nearest exit. Make sure the classroom is empty before leaving.
 - Make sure no one is left in the hallway.
 - Notify Montreal Forum officials or Security on site of any people in wheelchairs.
 - Take the exit stairs down to the ground floor exiting onto Sainte-Catherine or Atwater. Return to the College's main building to await further instructions.
- Evacuations of the main building of Dawson College and the premises at the Montreal Forum are independent of each other.
 - If there is an emergency requiring evacuation of Dawson College's main building, there is no evacuation at the Montreal Forum.
 - Inversely, if there is an emergency requiring the evacuation of the Montreal Forum classrooms, there is no evacuation of Dawson College's main building.
